ROOSEVELT AND CHURCHILL IN HISTORIC MEETING

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and Winston Churchill met three weeks ago on the Atlantic in one of history's most dramatic conferences. Conclusions reached by these leaders of the English-speaking peoples when they met on H.M.S. Prince of Wales and the American cruiser Augusta may decisively affect the war issue. Standing are economic, naval and military experts (L. to R.): Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator; W. A. Harriman, special Roosevelt emissary to Britain, Admiral E. J. King, head of the U.S. Atlantic fleet; Gen G. C. Marshall, U.S. army chief of staff; Gen. Sir John Dill; U.S. Admiral Harold R. Stark; and Admiral Sir Dudley Pound.

WITH A SMILE of confidence, Prime Minister Churchill faces the camera at the close of a discussion with President Roosevelt. The importance and earnestness of their joint declaration in the eight-points peace program, and their determination to bring about "the final destruction of Nazi tyranny" are plainly written in the president's serious mien. Other pictures on pages 16 and 27.

AXIS PORTS BOMBED FROM ROTTERDAM TO TRIPOLI

THE SAVAGELY DESTRUCTIVE daylight air raid on the docks and shipping of Rotterdam is vividly pictured by Montague Black. In one day two waves of Blenheim bombers set fire to many waterfront warehouses and factories and sank or badly crippled Nazi ships numbering 26 and totalling 152,000 tons. The largest vessel was the 17,000-ton motor ship Balooram shown in the centre. The chief hero of the raid, a Canadian squadron leader, dexterously side-slipping between the ship's mast and an aerial electrically charged cable on the wharf, created havoc on the Balooram when he placed, with dire effect, a bomb squarely between its funnels.

ITALIAN SHIPPING in the Mediterranean was given the same kind of super-bombing as Rotterdam, Bremen, Kiel, Hamburg and Axis-held ports in France and Norway. Making mock of claims that the Mediterranean is an Italian sea, British aircraft have recently bombed Naples and Syracuse, and in Libya have inflicted exceptionally heavy damage on Tripoli and Benghazi. The artist shows the damage done by fighter planes at sea to Italian motor torpedo craft that ventured too close to a convoy. The big Italian battleships have been driven off the sea and the smaller vessels depicted here can't keep "mare nostrum" from being a British sea

IT TAKES MANY MEN TO KEEP A BOMBER FLYING

THIS LEVEL PANORAMA with its revelation of vast open spaces suggests the western prairies but it's an eastern airdrome, Camp Borden, Ontario, to be exact. These machines in the foreground are Avro-Anson training bombers. Big as they seem, they are small fry when stacked up against the immense bombers showering Germany nearly every night and which, later on, airmen and ground crews trained in Canada will fly and service. The complex education they receive in machine handling and care qualifies them to cope with what's to come.

CANADA'S AIR FORCE is a complex and intricate organization, for keeping a big bomber in the air requires the service on the ground of a corps of craftsmen greatly outnumbering its crew. Close to 50 different crafts, skills and professions are represented in the air force personnel, though the official categories such as aero mechanic, air frame mechanic, fabric worker, armorer, electrician, dope man and so forth are fewer in number. Some are versatile enough to handle half a dozen different jobs not officially listed. The force, too, is a hive of clerks and bookkeepers.

THE WINGS OF THE BEST of planes can get torn and this fabric worker, who can thread a needle with any woman, has a job of great importance. He's expert, too, in the packing of parachutes.

THERE IS PLENTY of demand for expert machinists in the air force, for just as much skill is needed to repair planes and to keep them at all times airworthy as to produce them originally.

AS THE WAR PROGRESSES, bombers and fighter planes carry more and deadlier cannon and machine-guns, add to the thickness of their armor and drop bigger bombs. This increases the value of an armorer to an air force. He's seen here making sure that the bomb racks function. He is responsible for the effective working of all the offensive weapons with which airplanes are equipped.

HERE IS THE MAN whose job is to make sure that the motors do not falter in the fury of aerial combat. He is an air engine mechanic and pilots stake their lives on the thoroughness of his work.

GROUND CREW MEN service an aeroplane the way the gas station attendants service automobiles. They also wheel planes in and out of hangars. In their working togs, ground men refuel an airplane.

WORKERS IN MATERIALS of every sort are needed in this versatile Canadian Air Force. This earnest young man is a metal worker and with hammer and chisel is tightening a few rivets. Attention to trifling details makes for air safety.

THIS OUGHT TO BE the safest of all jobs in the air force. Superstitious pilots no doubt envy this woodworker who keeps on touching wood.

LONDON DEFENCES HOLD AGAINST CANUCK "ATTACK"

BREN GUN CARRIERS negotiate a hill en masse. They mean business, as the enemy will find out should they ever try invasion. The massed mobile might of the Canadian division, on exercise somewhere in England and ready to move at a moment's notice, is most impressive. It has been trained to cope with any emergency, such as the arrival of Hitler's parachute troops.

MOCK ATTACK was recently staged upon the city of London by a Quebec regiment, supposedly "airborne." Here's an "enemy" unit communicating by portable radio.

"ENEMY" gun carrier rumbles down a London street in mock invasion exercise. Even with Bren-gun carriers, tommyguns, hand grenades and bombs, the "enemy" failed to capture the city's largest telephone exchange.

"PUT OUT OF ACTION" was this "enemy" Bren-gun carrier when it attempted to storm a real barrier. London's Home Guard defended the vital areas under mock attack recently. Four hundred crack Canadian troops of a Central Ontario regiment tried to crash their way into London. Acting as the resourceful enemy, they tried every means to break through the tough defence, but failed.

FIRST CANADIAN BOMBER SQUADRON IS FORMED

THIS BABY causes great devastation when dropped over Nazi-controlled countries by Wellington bombers manned by Canadians. These airmen, members of a Canadian bomber squadron, look amused when regarding this missile. Bombs like these are made in Canada.

INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS are seen talking to the crew of a Wellington bomber upon their return from a raid. Results of their mission are relayed to the air ministry. Canadians from the R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. form the personnel of this new bombing squadron.

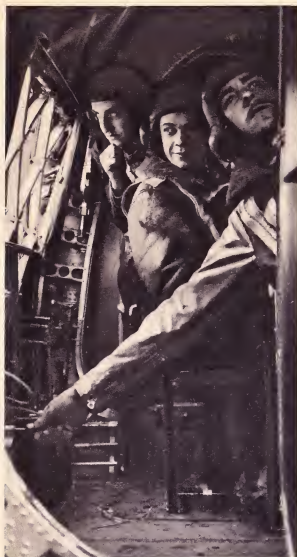

ARRIVING BY LORRY, crews of Wellington bombers head for their ships, which are about to take off for a raid over Germany. They're members of the first Canadian Bomber Squadron. Heading this new unit is a Saskatchewan wing commander, with the R.A.F. six years.

"V" FOR VICTORY is fast becoming a magical symbol. It's found everywhere, even in Nazi-controlled lands. As Wellington bombers help spell Hitler's doom, so crew members impose a large "V" on the sides of their heavy plane.

INTERIOR of a Wellington bomber. The Empire Training Scheme prepared many men for the new unit. Here are G. H. Fleming, Ont., J. S. McArdle, Winnipeg, J. B. Dawson, Montreal.

"THUNDER CLOUD" is the design chosen by Squadron Leader R. C. Bissett, D.F.C., Edmonton, for his Wellington bomber. It has proved a lucky choice for this daring flier.

FIRST DIONNE FAMILY PICTURES IN SEVEN YEARS

RUMPLED but not ruffled is Papa Dionne, who has his hands full in this picture. The quints, now seven, demonstrate their affection for their dad with great spirit.

ANNETTE quickly acquires the knack of knitting and her mother smiles approvingly. Mamma wants them to learn all the homecrafts which French-Canadian girls learn in childhood, besides general housework.

VICTOR, AGED 3, youngest of the twelve Dionne children, pouts because he's left out of the secret which Marie confides only to Mamma. For the first time in seven years, all the Diones were photographed together.

FIRST TIME IN SEVEN YEARS, the entire Dionne family poses for a picture. In August, 1934, the world's only quintuplets were separated by law from their parents, Oliva and Elzire Dionne, and placed in the Ontario's government's care. Now, though, they see a good deal of the others. Mrs. Dionne holds Victor, 3. In the back row, from the left, are: Pauline, 8; Daniel, 9; Therese, 12; Rose, 13; Ernest, 14; Mr. Dionne. Front: Oliva, Jr., 5; and the famous quintos, Cecile, Yvonne, Annette, Marie, Emilie, 7.

"I don't care if you never come home!"

HOW A YOUNG WIFE OVERCAME THE "ONE NEGLECT" THAT WRECKS SO MANY MARRIAGES

1. I thought my husband was all to blame. He'd been leaving me home alone night after night. Our once-blissful marriage seemed headed for the rocks. I was almost frantic.

2. In despair, I went to see my sister-in-law—Sarah's been so happily married for years. When I told her about our troubles, she said: "You may be the guilty one, Sis. Often a husband's love grows cold just because a wife is careless—or ignorant—about feminine hygiene. It's one neglect few husbands can forgive."

4. I understand now why so many thousands of modern women rely on "Lysol" for feminine hygiene. It's gentle—yet so effective. And costs so little to use, I'll never risk losing my husband again. Yes, he comes home now—and brings me flowers!

3. "My own marriage was once in danger," Sarah said, "until my doctor set me right. He advised 'Lysol' for intimate personal care. He told me it does more than cleanse and deodorize. Being an efficient germicide, 'Lysol' kills millions of germs instantly on contact, and without discomfort to you. I found it was good advice."

GUARD YOUR FAMILY AGAINST INFECTION

LYSOL is Ideal Antiseptic for Cuts, Burns, All Minor Injuries! Densely infection often starts from the smallest cut or bruise. Be careful! Use Lysol freely in proper dilution as directed. Lysol recommended and used by doctors and hospitals everywhere is concentrated, undiluted it's amazingly economical. Keep Lysol in your home—always!

Check this with your Doctor

"Lysol" is NON-CAUSTIC—gentle and efficient in proper dilution. Contains no free alkali. It is not carbolic acid. EFFECTIVE—a powerful germicide, active in presence of organic matter (such as mucus, serum, etc.). SPREADING—"Lysol" solutions spread and virtually search out germs in deep crevices. ECONOMICAL—small bottle makes almost 4 gallons of solution for feminine hygiene. LASTING—"Lysol" keeps full strength indefinitely no matter how often it is unworked. CLEANLY ODOUR—disappears after use.

R.A.F. FLEDGLINGS SPROUT WINGS IN U.S.

DUNKING FOR SOLOING is the reward for cadets when they newly sprout wings. Flying-cadet tradition really calls for ducking in swimming pool or lake, but it is to the showers for this man as the Camden pool is not ready yet.

CIVILIAN INSTRUCTOR gives last-minute directions to a cadet before the take-off, after which conversation is by phone. Mirror on wing reflects to the instructor the student's face and reactions during the flight.

THIS SIGN means what it says, as no one without a special metal badge is allowed to pass by the armed guards who patrol the whole school. It is "no exit," also, to cadets who can leave only on week-ends.

THE AIR SCHOOL AT CAMDEN, S.C., is one of six in the U.S. which will graduate 8,000 British pilots a year. The first group of 550 fledglings left England in June, knowing only they were going to an unidentified country with a temperate climate. A new class follows every few weeks. Most of the Camden cadets are from middle or upper middle-class families, and many had good jobs before the war in business or professions. Their conversation is all about flying, and most of them now want to go on flying after the war. They crowd in a full program from reveille at 5.45 a.m. to supper at 6 p.m., and study for two and a half hours every night.

NICKEL MACHINE-GUN in the recreation hall seems to interest the cadets as much as the real thing they soon will be pointing at a real Heinkel or Junkers.

NOTHING NOVEL about swimming, these lads know, but it is just as welcome in America as in England after eight hours of stiff instruction and an hour or so of physical training and drill.

EVERY NIGHT there are two and a half hours of studying for each student. Each has his own table. Photographed here, John Barry, left, is a cadet lieutenant; Arthur Leighton-Porter, a corporal.

SOMEWHERE AT SEA the leaders of two great nations pause in their momentous talks for divine worship. Here on the Prince of Wales, under four huge guns, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill sit, surrounded by the ship's crew, as prayers were said on Sunday, August 10.

THIS LOOKS like a pause and a rest in the history-making conversations between Churchill and Roosevelt. Besides the famous "eight points" they also discussed aid to the Soviets.

She Met a Miracle

and found it was an old friend in disguise!

She was amazed at the even baking and perfect browning her new range achieved at less cost. "Something different about it," she told the dealer. "Why," he said, "that's easy. Your new range is insulated with Fiberglas. That's why it's more efficient, and more economical too."

Naturally that set her thinking

"If that's what makes my range so good," she told herself, "perhaps . . ." So when she was buying her new refrigerator she asked if it was insulated with Fiberglas. "Yes, Ma'am," replied the dealer. "Fiberglas increases freezing speed and lowers operating cost. The better refrigerators are Fiberglas insulated."

She learned more

at housecleaning time. She found that dust from her warm air furnace had soiled last year's redecoration. "This DUST-STOP Air Filter will end that," said her furnace man. "It's made with Fiberglas, and catches those dust particles like a mousetrap catches a mouse."

this wonder-material is doing a big job better

Houses warmer in winter, cooler in summer; wiring, electric motors, made more durable; trains, buses, boats, electric washers, water heaters, batteries, heating and conditioning systems—in all these, Fiberglas is working wonders

What is Fiberglas

Fiberglas is pure glass—not in hard, brittle plates, but in soft, pliant, gossamer-thin fibers, padded or woven for insulating and filtering purposes. It has all the clean, non-absorbent, lasting qualities, all the electrical non-conductivity and fire-resistance of glass. Learn more about this amazing new material. AND SO YOU DO! But you're not at your best unless you're comfortable! Not even with that new outfit and squiff hair-do that's the envy of every girl in the block.

Why, even your most polished line will fall flat if you're not completely at ease.

So check up on yourself. Shoes or girdle that are too tight might ruin your day, whether you're going out for a new dance step or a breezy ride in an old jalopy.

Feel as good as you look!

That's it... go in for comfort and then even times of the month won't spoil your fun! For you'll discover that "difficult days" become less difficult when you do as most girls do and choose Kotex Satisfactory Napkins.

It's easy to understand why. Because Kotex is less bulky. Everyone knows less bulk means more comfort.

Another thing—you'll find Kotex is designed to start soft—stay soft... that's why you needn't start worrying about chafing. When a napkin can do that for you, it's really not surprising to find it the choice of more women than all other brands put together!

You'll take Kotex for mental comfort, too. Because there's real peace-of-mind both in the flat, tapered ends that never cause revealing outlines... and in the new "Safety Shield" that gives added absorption to every Kotex pad.

Where's a girl to learn all about "difficult days"? By about "difficult days"! By sending for the booklet: "As One Girl To Another." It's new... it's free! BLITZ VICTIM SAVED AFTER EIGHT HOURS' BURIAL

A LONDON BUILDING suffered this damage from a German reprisal raid in return for much greater devastation super bombs have inflicted upon Berlin. The structure collapsed on top of a public air raid shelter and trapped the occupants in the wreckage. It took eight hours of continuous work to tunnel an exit for them through the debris. A man of sixty was the first person rescued and his chief worry was for his artificial leg.

THIS SERIES OF PICTURES of a London rescue squad in action ends with a shot of the injured man being carried out of the excavation on a stretcher by his rescuers and being handed over to the ambulance men.

THE RESCUE SQUAD by sheer strength of arm roll away a large block of cement from the shelter's mouth.

NATURALIST REARS ORPHAN RED-SHOULDERED HAWK

THIS YOUNG HAWK of the red-shouldered species was found in a deserted nest by a bird expert, Hugh M. Halliday of Toronto. A neighbor's boy, Paul Perrin, tries to tempt it with a cracker but it's a hawk, not a parrot, and prefers snakes, mice and frogs. It is one of the good hawks and no menace to chicks or other birds.

HERE'S FURTHER PROOF that the bird is a good actor. It stands as steady as a soldier on parade and in this tranquil pose the saying "as wild as a hawk" seems to have no meaning.

A TENDER garter snake is this hawk's idea of a juicy tidbit. It will also eat dew worms.

THE LITTLE ORPHAN looked like this when Mr. Halliday brought him home, sole survivor of four nestlings. Parents perhaps were shot.

"Do you know why I like being with you?"
"Because I always carry Sweet Caps."

SPIRIT OF LONDON SHINES FROM THESE SHOTS

BARRACK SQUARE sees a new formation, as the "V" for Victory campaign prompts this A.T.S. squad to march off parade in "V" formation. Their smiling faces leave no doubts as to the sincerity of their purpose.

BLenheim BOMBERS load up for one of the R.A.F.'s sweeps over France which have become so regular that Frenchmen can almost set their watches by them.

BRIDGE BUILDING in a London playground is a war-time need so A.R.P. men will learn how to do a rush repair job when a highway or bridge is bombed.

"V" FOR VICTORY seen on this hat at a famous London store will be the fashion for scarves and handkerchiefs now in the making.

BLAZING A TRAIL in continuous offensive through Germany and occupied France, the R.A.F. has brought home to the enemy the meaning of total air war. The crew of this Whitley bomber record their twenty-first raid.

"WALTZING MATILDA" seems to have the full trust of these men of the Royal Tank Regiment. The tank was named in honor of the Aussies who used similar ones.

HAPPY, perhaps because they are peeling potatoes instead of onions, these youngsters are on a destroyer, convoy-bound for England.

COATS AND FROCKS AND HATS ALL UP-T O-DATE

SISTER STYLES, these coats are termed by the Canadian stylists, and the girls in them look like sisters, too. One is a fleeced polo coat with wide tailored lapels of French beaver, the other a Hollywood tie-around with a pleasantly casual air.

MATRONS WITH YOUNG IDEAS will be interested in these. One is of black dull mott crepe with interesting yoke treatment of cut velvet; the other a "dickie" frock, for wear from morn till night: white can give way to a tailored front if so desired.

NOT MARSH GRASS, but quill tips cut and dyed, adorn this black velvet sailor from Erik of Paris. It's of Josephine red, the purplish tone worn by Napoleon's empress. Erik of Paris calls his creation Josephine Forest.

"Hey! Know any tricks to amuse baby bunnies? I've been putting my best foot forward all morning but it's no use. They just grumble and take naps. Shucks, there oughta be something the sillies would like . . ."

"Hold on—maybe they feel the way I do when I'm hot and cross and some foolish grownup's trying to make me chuckle. Maybe what they really want more'n anything is something soothing to cool 'em off! . . ."

"Gleees! That's it! Silky-cool Johnson's Baby Powder! Just two shakes of a rabbit's tail and I'll be back with double rubdowns for everybody. Then see if these fellows don't wiggle their ears and start to frolic."

"What a thrill! A rubdown with soft, soothing Johnson's Baby Powder is the high spot of any baby's day! It's swell for chafes and prickles. Mighty inexpensive. And it's borated too!"

NECKLACES OF MACARONI

THIS BLONDE MAGICIAN begins operations by emptying a box of macaroni into a sauce pan preparatory to boiling it.

WITH THE RAW MATERIAL in front of her in all the hues of the rainbow, she takes thread and needle and strings them into an artistic necklet, a feast for the eye and, if need be, the stomach.

PAULINE BAKER, a Toronto girl, manages to make a novel necklace from domestic macaroni. The ready-cut material is in pieces, just the right length to convert into elongated beads. After they are painted in variegated colors and placed in harmonious arrangement on a thread, the broken macaroni has emerged into an article of adornment. Of course, the macaroni has to be boiled first to remove its brittleness. When it hardens on drying, it is ready to point and string. An odd ornament, it is not the least bit difficult to make.

PAINTING THE PIECES in various colors is an interesting part of the job.

WHEN THE MACARONI has hardened, she dons her novel necklace, and with pride smiles at her mirror.

How modern are you when it's

"that time of month?"

"MODERN?" you say. "Of course I'm modern!" But are you, always, young lady? Being modern, remember, demands being active—so if you still give in to periodic pain, there's cause to think again!

Isn't it time you gave Midol a chance to help you be "modern" every day in the month? It's made expressly to relieve needless functional periodic pain. Among thousands of women recently interviewed, more reported using Midol for this purpose than all other preparations combined, and 96% of these Midol users said they found Midol effective.

Try it yourself. Midol contains no opiates. One ingredient is widely prescribed for headache and muscular pain. Another, exclusively in Midol, quickly relieves spasmodic pain peculiar to the periodic process. Ask for Midol at your nearest drugstore, or send name and address to General Drug Co., Dept. E2231, Windsor, Ontario, for trial box mailed prepaid.

PARTING HANDSHAKE

PRIME MINISTER Churchill stands with ship's officers aboard the Prince of Wales. The ship was one of the pair on which the conference between the Premier and Roosevelt was held.

● "See that letter, Miss Wilson? It's from a top executive of one of Canada's largest corporations. It's actually an unintentional offence and I would take it as such if he were not such a good friend of mine. Keep it as a 'horrible example' of what I don't want our letters to look like."

ANY LETTER typed on an old, wornout machine is a potential offence to the one to whom it is addressed! And no typewriter is immortal. Sooner or later, your own machine will have to be replaced. When that time comes—and isn't it just possible that it has already come—may we suggest a new Royal?

THE NEW ROYAL, with MAGIC* Margin, Touch Control* and Locked Bob-less Shift, is by far the finest writing machine Royal has ever produced.

ITS BREEDING SHOWS in every sweeping line . . . in every sturdy part . . . as well as in ease of operation . . . quality of work . . . and low maintenance costs.

ROYALS ARE MADE by people who devote all their time, and all their skill, to the manufacture of typewriters—and nothing else. No wonder Royals are so good!
